

Alien invasion

Invasive species are animals or plants that enter and thrive in an environment where they are not native. Native species (plants and animals already living there) usually have no defense. The invading aliens can wipe out native species by preying on them or out-competing them.

