

Endangered animals

Our world has thousands of species, or kinds, of animals. Many are in danger of dying out, mainly because humans are destroying their habitats, or homes. Some animals have not been seen in their habitats for 50 years or more and can be declared “extinct in the wild.”

